

Directions

Newsletter of E. C. Davis & Associates

Issue 4, January 2010

This article appeared in our January 2010 email newsletter. We welcome your comments on any of our articles. Send an email to info@ecdavis.com.

Return to newsletter main page

Team Leader Skills Inventory (TLSI):

on-line version of this 360° instrument now available

The TLSI (Team Leader Skills Inventory) readily meets a team leader's need for more specific and ongoing feedback. And it meets the manager's (and colleagues') need for a simple tool to give specific feedback on a more frequent basis. *Now it has been released in an on-line format, making it much more timely and accessible to a wide audience. We encourage you to try the TLSI by doing a free self-assessment.

The TLSI is cost-effective and simple to administer. An on-line package of 10 surveys is only $40. There are only 40 items and it takes about 15 minutes to complete. Results are computed in our office and a profile is promptly returned to you electronically.

Short and simple – but also soundly researched using data from Team Manager Development Centers over a 10-year period and trial tests with numerous client companies. Dr. Paul Marciano, who developed this leadership assessment instrument, has given great care to ensure the instrument measures valid behavioral requirements of team leadership and that it is psychometrically sound.

More details and ordering information can be found here.